

Livy,

Earlier today, the Minneapolis City Council voted to delay their new rideshare law until July 1. This means that Uber will continue to operate in Minneapolis and surrounding areas through July 1.

Your voice played a crucial role in this decision — your calls and emails to City Council members over the past few weeks let them know, loud and clear, that Minneapolis needs rideshare. Thank you for making your voice heard!

But there is still work to do — while this delay is a positive development, in the coming weeks we will continue to work with state leaders on a permanent statewide solution that raises driver pay, protects driver flexibility, and keeps rideshare affordable.
